

Using effects and Presets

Adobe has a bunch of presets and effects one can use right out of the box

The Effects and Presets tab can be found on the right side in the Work panel. You can use these enhance your project by combining multiple effects or just using one particular effect. Presets are a few effects put together and provided as one collective effect. These can be used to add colour effects, creating animated transitions, animating text and textures, etc.

Once you select a particular effect, you need to drag it and release it on a layer for it to be applied. You will also see that the Effects Control panel will open next to the project panel. In the timeline panel, a bunch of keyframes will be added under the effects property of the chosen layer.
