

ping patterns are controlled by presenting to you the products that they want you to buy.

They know that if they show product x, y number of times in your social media feed as advertisements, then there is a 90 per cent chance that you would check that product out, and if there is a specific promotion, say a 10 per cent discount coupon specifically made for you, you will go ahead and buy it. Such is the level at which these big corporations handle their operations.

This photo is not that far away from reality

They have huge computing units that are dedicated to profiling and analysing you and other visitors to their websites. This ties in with the last concern that we have listed, of individual independence and how it is at risk. Such profiling is a living example of that. By using certain basic techniques which we will elaborate in the coming chapters, you can avoid such profiling.

The email and call spam

All our inboxes are full of promotional and spam emails, which are seldom useful, and some corporations double down on sending you emails after you have unsubscribed from their mailing lists. Not only this, the spam nexus, yes we are calling it that, they are a part of in most cases also joins in, to make the spamming a collective effort. It is not limited to emails, the calls also keep coming.

The only way to stop them is to enable complete DND, which might also block certain important calls. Really, there is no escaping from this vicious