Did you know that there is a bill in the Parliament that would help you advocate your personal data security?

Is privacy a fundamental right in India?

In a relatively recent, landmark judgment passed by the Honorable Supreme Court of India, the right to privacy was upheld to be a fundamental right by the constitution bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, subject to certain reasonable restrictions. Right to privacy refers to a legal framework that provides individuals a legal right to protect their or their data's privacy. The Supreme Court passed the judgement that right to privacy is an integral part of the right to life and liberty.
