

Image attribution - Penetration testing

A simple and elegant appearance.

1. Appearance

Believe it or not, facts say, “looks are important.” Therefore, something which is appealing to your eyes attracts you the most. Cinnamon is an especially appealing Linux software environment because of the color shades and clean fonts, allowing users to work without unnecessary disruption. Note, the home screen does not contain too many options that might give it a cluttered feel. Also, the user has the option to hide icons from any of the monitors.

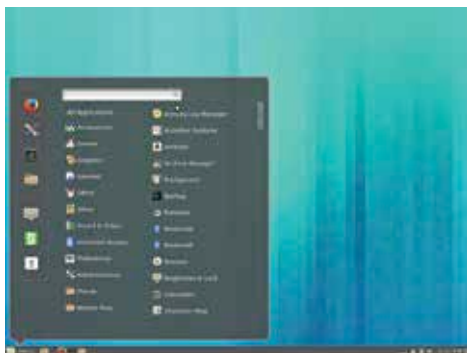

Image attribution - Ubuntu Geek

An example of the clean fonts and use of colours.

2. Speed

Next on the list is the speed. Would you like to work in an environment that takes 2-3 minutes to load? Well no! We all want something super fast yet reliable to complete the job without disrupting expectations in today’s fast-paced life. Cinnamon allows programs to load faster and promotes quick logins to never miss an update.