

Extensive network of science records

Library of Congress

This is the Library of Congress's online extension, which is located on Capitol Hill. It has a variety of material about American history, including

One of the biggest libraries on earth