

1. Caramel KWGT

We loved this one and you can see why it's deserving of first place in the list. There's just something about this widget pack that really mesmerises you.

The thing that sets Caramel apart from every other entry in this list is that in addition to offering a single widget, it offers a “cluster” of widgets. So you don't need to put separate widgets for time, weather, date and music. It combines them all into one cluster which looks good and functions well too.

Here are some of the sample home screen setups that we made using this pack. d
