

On this screen, enter the text that you want to see in your notification and simply press the big plus button. That's it! Now, whenever you pull down the notification shade, you will find your custom notification waiting for you!

You can even make a full-blown grocery list here, if you wish to.

The only bad thing that we found for this particular app is that all the notes go away if you “Clear All” them or Reboot / Shut Down your device. Luckily, that's exactly why the premium version of this app exists. The premium version of this app will allow you to have persistent notifications which will remain present even if you “Clear All” them.

Overdrop - Weather Widget And Radar

Overdrop is essentially a weather app. Usually, weather apps serve one and only one purpose - show weather. Well, Overdrop shows the weather and brings something more to the table. You see, the regular weather apps just show the weather, temperature, humidity, etc. in a plain / less colourful way. It's just bland information and some graphs. Well, Overdrop throws all of that out of the window
