MacroDroid

MacroDroid is the quickest and most convenient method to automate activities on your Android phone or tablet. MacroDroid's simple user interface allows users to create completely automated operations with only a few taps.

Each automated task is split into three segments - Trigger, Action and Constraints. A Trigger is an event detected on your phone that will cause a Macro to run. An action is used to configure what kind of an action the macro will perform, and a constraint allows you to limit how a macro is allowed to run.

With the amount of options available for setting up automation tasks, MacroDroid is a rabbit hole of its own. It can even be paired with other solutions like Tasker to enhance its already versatile functionality.

However, MacroDroid requires the pro version to remove ads and to enable unlimited macros. MacroDroid itself will take users a lot of time to explore and set up their own macros.
