

- Healthcare robots – An upcoming breed of robots that help in the healthcare industry. They include everything from intelligent prosthetics to electronic wheelchairs (like the one Stephen Hawking has), and robots capable of filling prescriptions in pharmacies.

Credit: Medical Device Network

- Research robots – This category of robots, consists of new machines being developed to solve a variety of real-world problems that the current generation of robots are not capable of solving. New technologies and

Credit: Safety+Health Magazine