

Source: Microsoft

Make it your own space

However, users of Windows 11 may still struggle to find a list of all available apps, so our tutorial is here to help.

- After clicking the Start button, look in the upper-right area for the All apps button.
- Right-click the app you wish to pin to the Start menu in Windows 11 and select “Pin to Start Menu.”
- To begin, select Pin.
- You can also pin programmes and folders to the Start menu from the Desktop.
- When you right-click the app or folder you want to pin, choose Pin to Start from the context menu.

4. Clear taskbar menu clutter

With each new version of Windows, Microsoft is renowned for discovering new ways to clog up the taskbar. Thankfully, you can get rid of them and make your interface look cleaner. The default taskbar in Windows 11 includes various features that might make it appear cluttered.

For starters, it has a search button with an extra search box. It also contains a Task View button, which is unnecessary because you can access it by hitting Win + Tab. Widgets that aren't needed are also present, as is a chat button that forces people to utilise Microsoft Teams.

To get a cleaner taskbar, go to Settings > Personalization > Taskbar and switch off all the options under Taskbar items.