Avira's virus detection feature is updated often to keep up with the latest malware advances. You may rest assured that Avira will never let you down and leave your computer unprotected.

It's also lightweight, like Avast, so it won't hog too much of your computer's resources, allowing the rest of your software to run without lag or slowdown. Versions for Android, iOS, and Mac laptops are also available.

Avira is compatible with Windows Security, which disables the protection of native software. Avira Crypto, a unique feature for cryptocurrency miners, safeguards your machine while you mine for cryptocurrency.
