

To get the most effective workflow, you can even link Slack with industry-leading products and custom apps. Slack includes a free version, but because it has limited functionality, larger companies are more likely to engage in a premium pricing model that allows them to get the most out of Slack.

Asana

Asana is well-known for task management and collaboration. It's a versatile work management application that facilitates team communication. The software is designed with an easy-to-use interface and includes a number of capabilities that make workload management and task assignment a breeze.

It's simple to keep track of all the tasks that have been given to a specific employee, and you can even generate reports. What Asana lacks in built-in functionality, it makes up for with robust integrations that allow you to customise Asana to fit your workflow. You can use Asana for free if you have a small team of up to 15 people. Larger businesses, on the other hand, will need to purchase a dedicated plan.

Bitrix24

Bitrix24 offers a comprehensive set of business solutions, including collaboration, instant messaging, telephony, project management, document management, scheduling, and staff administration.

If you like to keep things simple, you can focus on the fantastic CRM, which is a strong system in itself. Bitrix24's extremely generous free account enables

Helps do the tricks