

good the way they are and doesn't need to change. You could be right or you could be wrong. We've curated several new apps which have changed the way that you experience things. Perhaps, you might land a new favourite video player or music player. Or perhaps, you might decide to stop paying for an expensive office suite and switch to something open-source because of how good they've become over the years.

Either way, we hope that this FastTrack helps you in discovering new apps for some of the most common and frequent tasks that you perform on your PCs. As always, we're open to suggestions regarding future FastTracks. We're also eager for feedback regarding this FastTrack and even the issue as a whole.
