

Project Management

Airtable

Airtable is a project management application which is based on the cloud. It uses the spreadsheet format to organize data. Data that are related can be linked together. For instance, a person can link contacts with a company or you can even link the inventory items with their vendors.

Why you must get it:

This is a must-have software because it is adaptable to multiple devices. Users can see data in the format of a spreadsheet, where the data can be viewed as tappable cards on mobile devices. Users can add and remove data, share tables and attach files on both devices. Airtable can connect to services like Google Drive, Dropbox and Evernote. Users can chat with each
