

- Audience members can optionally check the box “Ask anonymously.” Click Submit.

How can audience members vote on questions?

Audience members can vote on the questions to be answered:

- Go to the Q&A link shown on the slide.
- Below the question you'd like to vote on, click Up vote Upvote or Down vote Downvote.

Publish to web

Webpages are a simple and easy way to share data with large audiences. This is because everyone can see them, and you can even have full control when updates are released to the public. You can publish a copy of your file as a distinct, lightweight web page with Google Slides.

Here is how you can publish a file to web:

When you publish a file to the web, you create a copy of your file as a unique web page with its own URL.

- In Google Drive, open your file.
- From Docs, Sheets, Slides, select File and then Publish to the web.
- For spreadsheets, select the entire spreadsheet or individual sheets.