Google Sites is a platform for creating and hosting websites, accessible for free, even if integrated with G Suite and offers the possibility of creating simple and professional sites very quickly, without prior knowledge. It also offers many themes and templates, which integrate perfectly with other Google tools, such as Sheets or Drive. The collaborative aspect is therefore important for this solution, which goes beyond the simple creation of websites since it is also linked to other G Suite services.

You can create sites with this Google application without using HTML code and with a few simple clicks. The use of Google Sites is very intuitive because many models depend on the desired activity. It is possible to quickly and easily create a basic site, whether for a personal blog, an association, or a school, then to personalize it as you go along according to your tastes. The speed with which it is thus possible to create a site is impressive. Furthermore, Google sites have added several other updates that have made it easier for people to make a website. Quite simply, when you first hear what Google Sites is, you understand that it is a tool that can be useful if you need to create something quick and minimalist.
