Nikon cameras generally have a decent finish . It is the plastic material that gives them the cheap look. The Kodak V803, however, is sturdier, and is one of the classier-looking cameras of the pack.

The menu layouts don't change much from camera to camera within a single brand. You only find major changes when a new generation comes through. The Sony W55 is a comparatively old camera, and its menu layout and colour scheme is the same as that found on Sony cameras pre-2007.

The Nikons weren't impressive on the performance front, but they have some unique features inbuilt. One such is blur detection, which
