

Idealism, Utopia? Naw... not here...

Rapture... An underwater city. Created by idealists... populated by a hand-picked group of artists, scientists and industrialists, once teeming with life... ideal no more. As a chance interloper you'll find yourself exploring its corridors, unraveling its secrets, all the while defending yourself from the remnants of its now-violent, genetically-mutated denizens. You will lose your humanity bit by bit, as you are forced to adapt... to mutate... in order to survive, while the sea struggles to reclaim what was taken from it.