

Pepsi Phone?

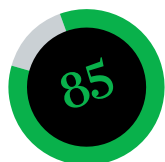

Out of nowhere another company called Koobee wants to launch a 'Pepsi edition' phone after Oppo. <http://dgit.in/KPepsiPhone>

The $10 smartphone!

Leaving behind the Firefox OS phone, Walmart has a new cheapest smartphone that costs $10. Read all here: <http://dgit.in/wlmrtphone>

Bazaar

Jaybird X2

Premium quality, premium price

Performance.....85
Features.....88
Value.....70
Build.....85

Specifications

Bluetooth: V2.1 + EDR;
Profile: Handsfree v1.6, Headset v1.1, A2DP v1.2 and AVRCP v1.4; Range: 10 meters (30 feet); Rated battery life: Up to 8 hours; Standby Time: Up to 250 hours; Input Voltage: DC 5V 100mA; Charging Time: ~2 hours; Weight: ~13 g;

Contact

Headphone Zone
Phone: +91 7506646988
Email: direct@headphonezone.in Website: <http://www/headphonezone.in>

The Jaybird X2 bluetooth in-ear headphone is a great product in a couple of ways. Firstly, it's wireless – an uncommon attribute in itself, it's not the X2's only redeeming feature. Other than being wireless what sets it apart is the lavish attention to detail its creators seem to have bestowed on it. Right from the crafting of the ear fins, to the high quality hardcase, to even the minutest features it packs such as the voice prompts for functions such as power on or pairing – every feature or design decision seems to be towards a goal, and that is, to be a sturdy sport-oriented IEM. It's sweatproof too and the fit is secure enough to endure your most rigorous workouts. The little cable management accessory too is brilliant in completely eliminating cable harmonics and ensuring snug fit. So far so good, though what about performance?

The Jaybird X2 has a rich and vibrant tonality. It goes very well in line with the active lifestyle ethos that the X2 comes from. There's just enough bass without being overbearing, while at the same time the X2 displays a surprising amount of detail for wireless headphones. At ₹15,999 it's certainly not cheap. And one of the most pertinent questions to ask is, does the Jaybird X2 sound as good as a pair of wired IEMs at that price point? Guess what, they do! I had the Cowon EH2 handy for reference and the X2 is evenly matched, in fact, bettering the EH2 on certain genres. If I had to nitpick I'd say that the housing is a little large and getting a good fit takes a bit of practice and experimentation. But they're minor complaints. Overall, if you want the ultimate in audio designed for fitness activities the Jaybird X2 is for you.

Siddharth Parwatya

Pentax K-S2

Makes sense for beginner-level shutterbugs

Pentax reintroduced itself under Ricoh Imaging, introducing in India a line of new cameras. The Pentax K-S2 is the basic offering in Pentax's DSLR offering, falling within the 50k price bracket. It employs a 20.1MP APS-C sensor, along with a fast image processor. To begin analysing, image qualities, straight off Auto mode, is rather good. Try it in well-lit situations without pushing the ISO higher, and the Pentax K-S2 is as good as any Nikon or Canon entry-range DSLR.

ISO levels is one limiting factor of the Pentax K-S2. Under low and uncertain lighting situations, bumping up the ISO keeps making images softer (more than what is seen in other cameras). ISO 1600 is the last level of ISO that still passes off as tolerable, beyond which images rendered appear too soft, and ISO 12800 is practically unusable. The shutter mechanism on the camera, however, is fast. And, while the autofocus motor is quite fast, the tacky build quality and the noisy motor are major letdowns in the device's overall user experience. Movie quality is decent, but nowhere near the best.

The K-S2 is big and bulky, owing to the weatherproofing on it. This is the only budget DSLR to come with this feature, which makes it stand out and quite unique. Other features include the swivelling LCD and LED-lit buttons. If you're an advanced photographer, look away, as the Pentax K-S2 is thoroughly for beginners, offering decent image quality and weatherproofing.

Souvik Das

Price
₹53,395
(18-50mm
and 50-200mm lenses)

Features.....84
Design.....65
Performance.....70
Value.....55

Specifications

Resolution: 20.12 million effective pixels; Sensor size and type: APS-C CMOS; Kit lens: SMC Pentax DA L 18-55mm f/3.5-5.6G AL; Viewfinder: 3-inch TFT LCD, pentaprism eyepiece viewfinder; Shutter speed: 1/6000" to 30"; ISO: 100-51200; Weight: 618 grams (body only); Connectivity: USB 2.0

Contact

Ricoh Imaging India
Phone: 1800-103-0066
Email: ril.info@ricoh.co.in
Website: <https://ricoh.co.in/products/dslr/k-s2/26/422/>