TAKE MY MONEY!

Here is where we keep an eye on crowdfunded projects that will make you go 'Shut up and take my money!'

Ampere

Smartphones nowadays are shipping with wireless charging and even though they aren't able to charge up your devices quickly, getting rid of wires is a notable gesture. There are already many wireless charging kits available, either shabby looking or expensive. Ampere is a wireless charging power bank with a capacity of a mere 2,700mAh. It also acts as a phone holder so you can place the phone inside while the charging continues. Yes, it does sound amazing but the device isn't compatible with every phone, currently only supporting a few Apple, Nexus and Samsung devices or devices with Qi-wireless charging capabilities. Ampere won't burn a hole in your pocket since it's priced at around ₹5,200.

Mask

The name might sound unimaginative and not even relate to the actual product, but Mask is an interesting product from Dashbon. VR is slowly becoming the buzzword and we are seeing a lot of headsets in the making. Most of the existing headsets either require specific content created for them or you'll have to place your phone on the headset to act as the display. What Mask does is that it mirrors the screen of your smartphone on to the headset for you to enjoy content through the headset. It isn't clear whether there's going to be any sort of depth perception yet. The interesting feature about Mask is that it also acts as a headphone so, you'll not just be able to enjoy videos but also audio content. Mask costs about ₹26,000.

Revol's Earphones

It's quite rare to come across the right shape and size of an earphone which fits perfectly in your ear. Sometimes, they fall off easily and fail to give you a snug fit. Custom built earbuds aren't favourable since they are quite expensive and take a lot of time to manufacture. Revols wants to change this by offering earphones that can mould itself according to your ears inner shape in under 60 seconds. The earbuds initially come in a gel-based state and once triggered to mould inside your ear, it turns into a hardened shape. Revols is wireless and it claims to give up to 8 hours of playback. The pair of custom-fit wireless earphones will cost you around ₹13,000.
