aTek, and draws good performance from it. That said, at ₹26,990, the Oppo F1 Plus seems overpriced against the likes of the Xiaomi Mi 5 and even the Smartron t.phone now. It has good cameras, but as an overall package, Oppo may be asking too much off the consumer.

Lenovo Vibe Shot

The Lenovo Vibe Shot has a 16MP rear camera, which is its primary focus. The phone comes with a dedicated camera button, and another, to change between auto and Pro modes. It offers a lot of control over the camera as well, and can take very good photos. The phone was launched at around ₹25,000, but has since dropped to ₹18,599.

For a camera centric phone though, the Vibe Shot isn't very good at low light imaging. The Moto X Play outperforms this one. The Vibe Shot shows quite a bit of noise under
