

GREED

EXAMINED

Some very cool products come to the Digit Test Centre which don't really fit into the standard product categories that we review in the Bazaar section. We write about them here mostly to make you turn green with envy.

Vetro Power

Monsoons might be the people's favourite among all the seasons, but one wrong step into a puddle and your favourite season drastically changes. Shoes are a big no no when heading outside since washing them after every two days isn't really the smartest of solutions. Fortunately, there exists a solution and although it has been already available in industrial levels, we now have hydrophobic sprays for consumers. A hydrophobic coating essentially repels water so it's a boon for the monsoons. The Vetro Power is one such hydrophobic spray, meant for your shoes to save you all the trouble of having to wash off the muck regularly.

Selling at an MRP of ₹1,500, the 100 ml bottle is said to last for up to four times of usage. Given the luxury of having their shoe sprayed with a hydrophobic coating, almost everyone in our team brought their smelly shoes into the test lab. The least smelly one was chosen and a quick spray was applied. They recommend storing the shoe after it has been sprayed for about 12 hours, away from sunlight. In our first attempt, we realised that the coating wasn't good enough to repel all the water and some of it was absorbed by the shoe. After an extensive spray, we were able to notice the difference and it fared well to keep the shoe dry. But, don't expect to have a dry shoe if you happen to walk into a puddle of water. Let's just say this is more water-resistant than water-proof!

Goldilocks Personal Locker

You wouldn't want burglars getting their hands on your precious items do you? So you'll install a personal locker hidden somewhere behind a painting with the most complicated combination you can come up with ever. But what if you want to carry your precious belongings along? Godrej has released a strong portable personal locker that comes equipped with almost the same level of security seen in the full-fledged safes that they make. The Goldilocks Personal Locker has a feather-touch panel on the front that lights up with LEDs to set and open the lock with your combination. The interiors are lined with a velvety material in order to prevent any scratches on your valuables. Due to its portability, it can be easily carried around your house and placed anywhere, so no more of the painful wall mounts. Also, you'll be able to pack it inside a suitcase, if your suitcase is big enough, and take it along in your trip. If someone tries to break into it while you're asleep, the sensors go off and wake up the entire neighbourhood to announce a robbery underway. The sensors on the ₹6,499 locker are powered by a battery at the bottom, so you'll should make sure that the battery is charged all the time. Just in case you forgot to do that, there is an auxiliary power input at the bottom as well to power the save directly from a power source. It also comes with a master code (that you can change) which allows you to override the lock in case you forgot your password.