

Pokémon Postponed?

Pokémon Go launch in Japan Postponed after email leak and server overload fears digit.in/PokeGoPost

Expedia acquires Trover

Travel company Expedia has acquired photo sharing app and website Trover digit.in/ExpediaXTrover

Tomorrow's tech

REVERSE ENGINEERING YOUR FAVOURITE WORST NIGHTMARE

The science behind the zombie apocalypse

Sahil Dawka

feedback@digit.in

The End

You're hiding in a municipal trash container, all alone. The stench is unbearable, but it's a small price for survival. You breathe softly because you can hear them grunting and shuffling.. Zombies are about. Safe spots are few and far between, places inaccessible without a minimal level of sustained muscle coordination. Your town is overrun, but last you heard, so is every place else. Earth's most powerful species has become a mob of mindless monsters, save few, like you.

A few months before the end..

The government and ultra rich with their armies, tried to suppress humanity's plague. But the world was too small, everyone was connected, it spread faster than a good meme on 9gag. Only few lucky stragglers (mostly those with weapons) survived, and the rich retreated to their makeshift mansions on offshore oil rigs, leaving the mainland to plunder and ruin. Nomadic and sporadic, intelligent and lucky, you find yourself with sense and mind, but stuck in a tight spot. You wonder, how it all began..