Exodemon

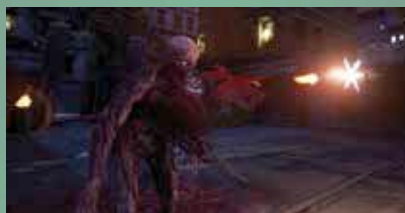

Assume the role of a scientist who's infected by demonic forces in Exodemon as you force your way through chaotic facilities. The first thing you'll notice about Exodemon is that it's heavily inspired by classics of the genre such as Doom, Hexen, and Quake. Exodemon continues this tradition and maintains that fast-paced FPS feel. The game utilizes 3D graphics mixed with 2D sprites and players have the freedom of exploring levels and discovering new ways to complete levels. It's got full controller support and some epic boss battles thrown in there as well. Check it out if you're a fan of the genre.

ZEscape

In ZEscape, two teams face off in an asymmetrical multiplayer game where you run for your life from the undead (Yes, we're aware that it's yet another zombie survival game). You need to do a bit of platforming and upgrade your gear while you defend yourself and your teammates from the undead. There's boss battles and well and several different game modes and environments. Escape from the zombies or turn into one of them, it all depends on you. The game features class-style abilities which you can use and unlockable in-game items and skills.

Spellstrike

Spellstrike is a strategy game which plays out like a board game and has card-game elements. It's a unique multiplayer game where you control a squad of three fighters and face off against each other for land, glory or survival. Pick a side and build your dream team by collecting characters and customizing their skills as you play through the game. Customize your squads, characters, and skills, and combine different characters to create your ideal team composition. Test out your customized squads against other players online and use strategies to gain a tactical advantage over your opponent.
