

DESIRE

TAKE MY MONEY!

Here is where we keep an eye on crowd-funded projects that will make you go 'Shut up and take my money!'

Gaze Desk

Looking at someone hunched over while staring at a desktop screen sure is funny but you do it too, so the joke's on you. An entirely bad habit in the long run, you might stay in denial by taking breaks and stretching while making inappropriate noises. A smarter and healthier solution would be to invest in one of those super expensive, rad-looking chairs or standing desks. There are loads of options available in the former so we'll just ignore them for now and focus on the Gaze Desk. It could be triggering nowadays if a certain product isn't made "smart" hence the clean and two-tiered standing desk can pair with your smartphone to remind you to stand if you've been sitting for too long. Along with reminding you about your forgetful mind, the app also tracks your sitting and standing patterns, accordingly rewarding you with achievement badges. Because of the two-tiered system, you'll be able to adjust the height of the basic desk area (front) and the monitor stand (rear) individually. Making height adjustments are child's play, and you can change the height of the front and rear together or separately. The early bird asking price is only $359 which is marginally less than its competitors and certainly way less than the doctor's bill from your future back problems.

Link: <http://dgit.in/GazeDesk>

DFY

A wallet is an important accessory usually ignored by most of us. Most of the wallets you spot are fat and bulky, basically, they don't look appealing enough. If you decide on buying a new one, you'll observe the new trend of making everything minimalistic. Made of microfiber leather, it is supposed to be better than real leather or the synthetic equivalent, and it's recyclable as well (you can score some eco-friendly points). Other than having slots for your cards, cash and ID, there can't be much in a wallet but remember, we have to milk the "smart" fad in everything. The DFY wallet comes with an anti-RFID coating which is essentially a fabric to protect your personal information. RFID detectors won't be able to sneakily read all the data stored in your credit cards, passports and driver's licenses, a feature which would be gloriously welcomed by people who are paranoid about their personal data. The project is getting backed in a crazy manner so if you're lucky enough, you might be able to buy the wallet at the early bird price, if not, the standard price tag is $22.

Link: <http://dgit.in/DFYWallet>

Gosh! EasyFeed

With pets, it's difficult to go out for long trips especially if you live alone. Automatic feeders are amazing devices that take care of your pet's meals for several days, essentially until the feeder runs out of food. EasyFeed lets you create automatic mealtimes through an integrated app to dispense food and water to your pet(s). You'll be able to set portions based on how much they eat and the container keeps track of the quantity which can be displayed from the app itself. The dispenser also has a mic and camera so that you can see and talk (yes, it is kind of weird) to your pet from anywhere in the world using their app. EasyFeed will ensure that you don't need to hesitate the next time you're planning that long vacation you deserve.

Link: <http://dgit.in/GoshEasyFeed>