Supposedly the festival of lights, Diwali has slowly transitioned into the festival of the best product deals. This story is dedicated to the true geeks out there. These are geeks who have an inappropriate obsession with gadgets and love tinkering around with them. We have created list of cool geeky gift ideas that you can always come back to pondering what to gift.

Don't expect these gifts to be as essential as a laptop or a smartphone. These gifts are more like accessories that your geeky friend will gladly accept and use along with their existing gadgetry.

Chromecast

Wouldn't you love to control streaming all the media at home from the comfort of your smartphone alone? Most of you must have heard about the Chromecast and given the possibilities with this device, it easily finds itself in anyone's wishlist. All you need to do is connect the device to your TV through an HDMI port and follow the instructions from the Chromecast app. With numerous apps that support casting, you will be able to enjoy your favourite videos, TV shows, music and even
