

TAKING THE 'HIPPOCRATIC OATH'

Google's Design Ethics & Product Philosopher –

Tristan Harris is determined to help us get rid of the digital addiction. Technology has indeed become really good at controlling us and software designers need to stop this psychological exploitation. <http://dgit.in/XTechAddict>

KILLING THE NOTE 7

Samsung's Note 7 fiasco has affected the integrity of the company throughout the world, leading it to abandon the production of the smartphone immediately and maybe even the Note series in the future. Here's how everything went out of control. <http://dgit.in/RIPNote7>

THE HARD WAY

What do you do when you get a startup idea? Build a prototype, a slick video and loop in investors and VCs. MailChimp, a 16-year-old company and then a startup chose the hard way– no venture capital, no fancy office, no crazy burn rate to achieve success. <http://dgit.in/MailChmp16>

LET THE ALGORITHMS TAKE OVER

After Microsoft's Tay chatbot experiment on twitter, it was time to check what are Facebook's algorithms upto. Here's how it would be, if Facebook algorithms are empowered to command your life for weeks. <http://dgit.in/FBAlgTO>
