

DGT

All the latest lifestyle technology, gadgets to drool over and gizmo porn like never before. Desire, Greed and Temptation ahead...

Apple VS Nokia again

The two mobile companies are back again with their patent lawsuits. Read more here: <http://dgit.in/ApleNokia>

✉ I'm a great fan of Digit magazine. I love technology and gadgets. I'm a 12th std. student and I love science, especially astronomy or cosmology. I like your dmystify books very much, and want to read all the previous books.

So, can I get the digital edition of all the dmystify books, and also upcoming books in digital format? Thank you!

—Mobammad Reban

4 We usually give out PDF editions with our June and December special issues, the latter is still available for order online. If you want upcoming editions in digital format, there's an easy way out for that - you'll have to download our app from here - <http://dgit.in/> AndroidEmag

—Abhijit

✉ Hello Team Digit, Greetings from one of your loyal fans. I'm a student studying in Grade 9 and am an ardent follower of Digit from the last six months. I really liked the comparisons and the reviews and tests done in the Digit Zero1 awards. I absolutely loved the blast pun you guys did on the Note7 issue.

Now coming to some suggestions:

1. PLEASE PROVIDE A POSTER FOR CALL OF DUTY : INFINITE WARFARE. I beg you.
 2. Provide SKOAR! as a separate magazine. (Did I mention that I'm a console head? Sorry #PCMaster-Race)
 3. Please increase the quantity of material in SKOAR!
 4. Stop hating iPhones so much. (pun intended)
 5. Increase the number of memes.
 6. I have noticed that you guys have decreased the length of the Digit Diary. It is very interesting to read.
- P.S. How many of you made your New year resolution to finish your work on time.

P.P.S. Please leak the identity of Agent001.

Last thing - Can we have another Encyclopaedia Technica or another round of Crack the Code?

—Dhruv Dugar

Feedback for the December 2016 issue of Digit

4 Dhruv, Your suggestions for the poster have been noted. There is a certain process for picking the artwork for the poster, which is why sometimes we can't give a certain game. But fear not, your interests are always at our heart. As for the diary, why does it seem to me that you like reading about our sufferings? And since you've asked about my identity, let me refashion the now famous line from V for Vendetta.

We are all Agent001,
We are Digit,
We are Technology,
We are not biased,
Write to us. :-)

—Agent001

✉ Hey Team Digit, I'm a very big fan of your magazine. I know you have better stuff to do so I'll make it short. My problem is that I have a story for a game. It is a very good story for an FPS/RPG game. The problem is I don't know programming and I don't know anyone around me who does. So I want to know whether I can send the story to a publisher/developer and, if so whom. Please reply quickly. Thank you in advance.

—Radbika Katiki

4 If you trust us, you can share the story with us and we will give you our honest feedback. If we think it sucks, we will say so, and if we think it's good, we'll say that. We could share some pointers too and then we can help by putting you in touch with some people at game studios if we think the storyline has what it takes.

—Mithun

✉ Hi! I've been a huge fan since I was 8, I'm now 17. It has been a long time reading your issues. In the beginning from my school's library and then later by saving my pocket money and getting it from the stand. Your magazine was like a part of my life. All month long I'd wait for your next issue while guessing what would be in your upcoming issue. I miss those days a lot.

1. Guys try doing some experiment in you magazine like changing your pics.
2. Try to add a page about the month's top phone apps and games as it is all the buzz now all thanks to JIO.
3. Give some sexy posters as guys love them and put it up on walls.
4. I should salute you as you guys give such good quality stuff for this cost and that too in print.