Mini John Cooper Works Clubman

The Mini John Cooper Works Clubman is the latest entrant into what we call the premium compact segment and it comes with a plethora of improvements which make the MINI look like a promising addition. The MINI comes with All4 all-wheel drive system, LED headlamps, different driving modes, park distance control, radio MINI visual boost, multifunctional buttons on the steering wheel and cruise control with brake function among other things.

The MINI comes with a 2.0-litre petrol tank and a 4-cylinder engine backed by MINI TwinPower Turbo technology. The All4 system also comes with in-built electrohydraulic regulation functionality. The MINI JCW can go from 0 to 100 km/h in just 6.3 seconds, and comes with a shooting brake concept never seen before in the compact segment. It also has an auxiliary radiator for additional cooling. These performance numbers are really good for this segment.

As for looks, the MINI goes for a sporty look with the JCW logo on the radiator grille, side scuttles and the rear. It's got 5 seats on the inside, each with integrated headrests, and a steering wheel dressed in signature JCW leather. In terms of personalisation, the MINI offers a lot of options. There are a number of paint colors, roof colors in various contrasts, stripes, and wheel variation, as well as an available red-themed interior to replace the standard black themed interior.

MINI is no stranger to the hot-hatchback segment of cars, with its focus being on building smart and fun to drive small cars. With this one, MINI has truly entered the four-door hatchback section in full throttle!

Pagani Huayra Hermes Edition

Manny Khoshbin is known for owning a rather mind-blowing fleet of cars, from the McLaren P1, and the Bugatti Veyron, to the Porsche Carrera GT. So you can be sure that the latest addition to his fleet would have to be quite droolworthy. Introducing the one of a kind Pagani Huayra Hermes Edition, with its own unique aerodynamics, suspension, and exhaust. It comes with slightly larger wheels as well. The brand has partnered with Hermes for the very first time in order to create this beast exclusively for Khoshbin. Hermes of course has rolled out specially styled travel bags to match the car itself and they even threw in a Birkin bag for Khoshbin's wife as well. The customization to the Pagani Huayra Hermes Edition are all part of the 'Tempesta' package offered by the brand, and while this Huayra is one of the last to use the Tempesta, we can be sure to see more of it in other departments of the brand in the near future.
