☒ Hey there, it's me Rohit again. It's been a pleasure reading your magazine as always. I have subscribed and literally my whole class waits for the magazine every month.

Which brings me to the problem: I have yet to receive the March edition. I usually get it within the first week of the month but I have not received it yet. Will you please look into it?

And I have to say, what an amazing magazine that you have created with your... you know, creativity and other higher order functions of the brain. I especially love SKOAR! and Dmystify. I always wanted to know if there is anyone from Kerala in the Digit team. Man, I always say that every rupee of the 200 rupees purchase is worth it after reading the purchase. Can you include the Win 8 version of the Nvidia driver update? I haven't upgraded to Win 10 yet and it's been awhile since I updated my graphics drivers. And..... I think I'll best stop now. Do your best making the favourite magazine of all us geek boys and girls out here and advance Happy Vishu! (just google it)

☒ I've been wanting to write to Digit since like three months, so obviously this one's gon' be a long read. Digit arrived at my doorstep and I actually paused Black Ops 2, to quickly flip through it before getting back to the game. First off thanks for that Paladins poster – gifted it to my brother, believe it or not, his gameplay time's over 135 hrs and top 1 % world-wide! (meant to brag)

Now for the “real” stuff: for real am sorry for the disintegration of trinity brotherhood :(since Jayesh left it's like one column less, guess it happens for the best, we still got double brotherhood and you guys do an amazing job, hustle at the last moment, tryna show em' your triceps (we gamers got enough of those in our fingers). And for that Gaming Master Race, hate to break it to ya, but Playstation Rules! Xbox Drools! And PC Growls! Because when you just think about it, pirates ain't willing to pay for PC games, they got cracks for that, but the same people are willing to throw their wallets at console games. So I think the day consoles fail, the entire videogame industry will fall! Enough to enlighten to ya'll! You're welcome :)

Feedback for the March 2017 issue of Digit

And for the finale, MY PROPHECY: Injustice 2 poster coming up for April issue right?

PS: Please Don't let me down -

📧 We miss Jayesh too bro :(

As for your console gaming theory – interesting. However you forgot about one thing:

The gaming industry generated over a whopping $90 billion last year. Guess how much consoles contributed to that amount? $6.6 billion :)

Meanwhile, PC is sitting at a comfy $36 billion and mobile gaming has the crown with $41 billion. Doesn't look like the videogame industry as a whole depends too much on consoles now does it? Happy to enlighten you :)

☒ Hey Digit,

I've been a long time reader and was quite excited to download the app. I filled out my info at dgit.in/dfreemag earlier this month but failed to receive any coupon code till date. I have both the Feb and March issues in hard copy and feel cheated if I have to buy the e-mag as well. Moreover I'm sure I'm not the only one so many of your other readers must be getting frustrated as well. What did you mine our info for?

I'll get to the good bits later or never but that's because of standards. I expect quality from you the way one expects clean restrooms at international airports. Being taken for granted can be a compliment.

PS - I purchased a Versatyl jacket on impulse so that's on you too.

– Ram Prasad

📧 Whoa there little horsie! We didn't mine any info. Come on, a little trust in your favourite magazine please? And we see what you did there. An ancient Indian proverb comes to mind: house chicken, lentil equal :-). Lastly about Versatyl jacket – pics or it didn't happen.

☒ I have been reading Digit for many years now, and happy with the dynamic changes it has been going through. Previously, technology was limited to engineering, while other branches of
