

Google Play Awards 2017

Following its announcement of the nominations for the Play Store awards about a month ago, Google has now announced the winners at its I/O event. There were 60 finalists across 12 different categories to choose from the 12 winners, two are paid apps while the rest are free.

'Red Bull TV' won the award for the Best TV Experience, while the Best VR and AR Experience awards were won by 'Virtual Virtual Reality' and 'Woorld' respectively.

If you have an Android Wear device, then you might want to give 'Runtastic Running & Fitness' a try as it won the award for the best Android Wear Experience. 'Animal Jam – Play Wild!' For the Best App for Kids award while 'Memrise' won the award for the Best App overall.

Mobile gamers should take a look at 'Transformers: Forged to Fight' as it won the award for the Best Game on the Play Store. The Best Multiplayer game award went to Blizzard Entertainment's, 'Hearthstone'.

'IFTTT' (or If This Then That) was judged to offer the best accessibility experience, while United Nation's app, 'ShareTheMeal', won the award for the Best Social Impact. 'Mushroom 11' and 'Hooked' received the awards for the Best Standout Indie and Startup apps respectively.

<http://dgit.in/GAwards2017>

What's new in Fox's X-Men Universe?

There's a new show called The Gifted about – you guessed it – mutants! The new show revolves around a family who has to go on the run after they discover that their kids have mutant powers. For starters Maisie Williams is set to join the cast of the New Mutants as Wolfsbane. A neat thing about her role is its semblance to her role of Arya Stark from Game of Thrones. Not only is she the second 'Stark' to join the X-Men Universe (Sophie Turner, a.k.a. Sansa Stark will be in X-Men: Dark Phoenix as Jean Grey), her role in the movie has her playing Wolfsbane, a mutant who can turn into a wolf. Yep, Arya Stark will be able to turn into a wolf in the new X-Men spin-off movie. How cool is that?

Another neat thing worth pointing out is that Magik is Colossus' sister. And as we all know he spent a good amount of time with our favourite Regenerating Degenerate. Meaning there's a chance that the Merc with the Mouth and the New Mutants will have a crossover in the future. As far as we're concerned they should put Deadpool in all the X-Men movies.

New Mutants is set to release on April 13, 2018.

<http://dgit.in/FoxGifted>

Dear Class of 2017

So you've just completed graduation or are about to. You are now expected to have superior knowledge over your particular stream and might be standing at a crossroads thinking what you want to do now, or where you want to go. Lucky for all you geeks out there, Bill Gates has an important message and you should definitely read it

<http://dgit.in/ClassBill>

North Korea tech

Back in 2010, during the football World Cup in South Africa, the coach of the North Korean Football team reportedly said that he was receiving tactical advice during matches through phones that were not visible to the naked eye. But separating fact from fiction, here's a glimpse at some of the tech made by the country that could potentially trigger World War III

<http://dgit.in/TECHNK>

Watchers of the Earth

Humanity has lived alongside vengeful volcanoes and merciless waves for thousands of years. Some disasters arrive without warning, leaving survival to luck. Often, however, there is a small window of time giving people a chance to escape. Science writer, Carrie Arnold explains how these urban legends from the past are saving lives today.

<http://dgit.in/MythsWarn>