Known as a full cloud inversion, LA filmmakers Harun Mehmedinovic and Gavin Heffernan captured this rare phenomenon at the Grand Canyon and it's the most spectacular night sky photo we have ever seen. This photo is taken from their ongoing astrophotography and time lapse video series 'Skyglow'. To learn more about Skyglow, follow this link - <http://dgit.in/Skyglow>

Archaeologists recently discovered the Khaleesi's dragon from Game of Thrones. Or wait, it could just be a 110 million-year-old armoured dinosaur. Known as a Nodosaur, this is the best preserved fossil of its kind ever found today and it's a pretty big deal.
