

Watch all 150,966 deaths from the Game of Thrones series

From Ned Stark's beheading, to Khal Drogo's smothering, to Jon Snow's murder and resurrection. This fan video has it all.

Game of Thrones Season 7 is right around the corner and GoT fanfare is at its peak. A YouTube user called Leon Andrew Razon has compiled a 21-minutes long video of all the 150,966 deaths across all the six seasons of Game of Thrones.

<http://dgit.in/GOT150k>

Apple Music TV Show

INetflix, Amazon and Hotstar may have to look out for its biggest competitor yet – a certain company from Cupertino, California, called Apple.

The maker of the iPhone debuted its first television show on Apple Music this week. It's called Planet of the Apps, and it's a reality show that revolves around Silicon Valley. It gives app developers a 60 second escalator ride to make their pitch to a panel, who then swipe left or right depending how they liked the pitch.

<http://dgit.in/AppsPlanet1>

Classic games from your childhood are making a comeback

Almost 20 years after it quit the video game consoles business, Sega is bringing a bunch of its classic games to mobile phones. The company has announced a service called Sega Forever, which brings five of Sega's classics to Android and iOS smartphones. The company says more games will be added every two weeks, including official and ported versions of Sega games. The Sega Forever service is available for free and Sega seems to be offering the individual games for download and they'll be ad supported. Users will have the option to pay $1.99 (approx. ₹130) to get rid of these advertisements. So, the games will now support saving on the cloud, online leaderboards and Bluetooth controllers. Even so, Sega is promising that they'll be playable offline.

<http://dgit.in/SegaPhone>

Music album on a USB stick

Korean K-pop star G-dragon releases his first solo work in four years. But the album that is being sold on a USB drive will not be counted as official album release by the Korean Music Content Industry Association (KMCA). Continue reading:

<http://dgit.in/dragonK>

Trailer breakdown: GOT S7 #2

"When the snows fall and the white winds blow, the lone wolf dies, but the pack survives". The second trailer for Game of Thrones Season 7 is out, and we have a complete frame by frame breakdown of the new trailer for all you TV junkies out there.

<http://dgit.in/GOTS7n2>

YouTube's effort to curb extremists

When it comes to managing extremist content on its platform, YouTube seems to have the same idea as Facebook. Days after Facebook announced its plan to take on extremist on its network, Google announced YouTube's initiatives for the same.

<http://dgit.in/YouFace>