One of the best

This is the same camera as the rear camera from the iPhone 7. Which makes it a 12-MP lens with an aperture of f/1.8. That wide enough for great low light shots.

Chassis

Like every other Apple device, the main chassis is machined out of a single block of high-grade aluminium.

Spacers

Spacers have been used to fill up voids left by removing the Wi-Fi module to prevent components from slipping inside the chassis. We wonder if the space could have been better utilised to further extend the battery.

Protection

A plastic sheet protects the mainboard and adds to the structural integrity of the entire device.
