

digit diary

If you are ever curious about what the Digit gang is up to, this is the place to get all the inside info. From the latest game we're obsessing about to the newest intern we're driving up the wall – it's all here folks.

Oh wow, it's December already. The year sure did pass by in a blur. Blink and it's almost 2018.

It's been exactly a year now since Big Daddy Jayesh left us, and unfortunately, another member of the triad is leaving us this time around. Siddharth has decided to take some "time off to rediscover himself" (whatever that is). We're not judging though, and we wish him the best with whatever he has planned for himself. But hey, we're sure we'll still be gaming with him every other night. If anything, we expect to see a rise in the number of "staticsid is now playing PLAYERUNKNOWN'S BATTLEGROUNDS" popping up in the next few weeks. There's a running joke around here that he's going to become a full time streamer once he quits. If you think that's a good idea, do let him (or us) know.

As you all know, December is Zero1 month, we were swamped to our eyebrows with products. Not that we're complaining! It's nice to be swamped with dozens of products worth several tens of lakhs.

There were also plenty of events in November as well, which made things even more hectic. First we had the NGDC or the Game Developers Conference. Then there was Comic Con and soon after that there was the IGX, all during a special issue month! You know what they say, no rest for the wicked.

We didn't have Anusha to review the mobile games this month, so we had to do those too. We're glad for it though, gave us a much needed break from everything else. It wouldn't have been too surprising to walk into the labs and see two or three of us furiously tapping away at our phones. In other gaming news, we got an ultrawide monitor for review. Like ultra ultrawide. This thing is 49 inches wide with an aspect ratio of 32:9. Of course, the first thing we did was load up pubg on it. Big Daddy himself paid us a visit around closing time during the weekend. He finally got to try pubg out, it was also his first time gaming on a PC since he left. It was a farewell/reunion party of sorts. Fun times.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH
"Okay, bye"

We love healthy and productive discussions on popular topics where people contribute logical points to arrive at a conclusion. It's AMD vs. Intel once again, and this time, the community discusses about gaming performance on the i7-8700K.

Using an old HDD

<http://dgit.in/OldHDDNewPC>

Hard disc drives are unpredictable and buying a used HDD can make anyone sceptical. A TDF member had the same doubt and the community came forward to help. If you've already done the same, members would love to hear your opinion.
