

4000-year-old mummy mystery

Using DNA sequencing, scientists have discovered that the 'Two Brothers' mummies are actually half-brothers.
<http://digit.in/mummydna>

Tinder swipe spying

The lack of encryption on Tinder makes it very easy for strangers to be able to spy on your swipes.
<http://digit.in/swipespy>

>> Feedback for the January 2018 issue of Digit

Send your feedback at editor@digit.in

 I have been a reader of your wonderful magazine for the past one year. In December edition of your magazine I read that you are willing to hire people for writing articles. I was interested in knowing the 'process' of how to apply for the concerned position.

—Prakhar Vighnesh

d This is a question many people ask. We don't have openings right at this minute, but that shouldn't stop you from writing for us.

First, you have to share recent samples of your work of technology writing. This should be original work, and not have elements copy pasted from anywhere. Next, tell us what things you like to write about, and what article would you most like to write for the Digit readers.

Based on this we gauge whether to give you a writing assignment or not. If we do, this will be published in our community section. If we like the article that comes out at the end, we may offer you freelance work in the future, which will be paid work.

—Robert

 Hello, I'm a fellow reader of Digit magazine and since I lost my November 2017 digit magazine I wanted to know how do I get one because I've tried nearby libraries and everything.

—Rohit Khodaskar.

d For anyone interested in finding out the closest place to buy Digit from, just write to help@digit.in and specify your address or pin code and we will give you a list of places Digit should be available. You can also buy online from <https://store.digit.in/store/>

—Robert

 Yours is a great mag but this mail is not for any sort of appreciation. My concerns/suggestions:

1. I am a gamer and I thought that you guys were also crazy about gaming... There was a time when I bought Digit just for the DVD and the SKOAR! Poster... I got the Jan issue just to find that you guys have gone for car posters... Yuck!!! Which gamers love car posters? And you were a tech and gaming mag, weren't you? So, as an avid reader of Digit, it is my request to you guys to please return to gaming posters.
2. Please write something about the PS Vita or some of its games (contrary to popular belief, its not dead). Its an awesome gaming handheld with great specifications and can support console level graphics.
3. Can you expand the 'how to's' section and tell how to build a PC

(don't judge me, I already told you that I am not a PC gamer in my previous mail).

4. Nowadays, the reviews and content of mobiles is increasing in the mag, but please don't let mobiles' content overtake the PC/gaming/consoles/tech content.

—Puja Mahajan

d Thank you for taking the time to write to us. Sadly, I can understand your sentiments as you are a gamer, but the problem we are faced with is that we have to cater to a wide range of tastes and likes across very different ages and other demographics. There are readers who are as young as 8 and also readers in their 80s who read this magazine. Yes, many gamers read this magazine, but then so do many car lovers. Most of the team are gamers, that is correct, but it is not all that we are. We are also geeks. We are gear heads. We are n00bs (about some things). We love science. Mobiles, PCs, and everything science and tech in the world. Similarly our readers also reflect that.

1. Many people wrote in asking for car posters, and claiming that gaming posters were boring. Similarly, many people want neither. We dedicate an entire SKOAR! section in the magazine for gaming, and of course we have our <http://skoar.digit.in> site where you can go and get a regular fix for your gaming needs.
2. I will pass on your suggestion to the boys. I wonder if anyone of us has a PS Vita? I doubt it. All PC Master Race specimens at Digit.
3. Yes this is a good suggestion. We should do a story like this once a year perhaps. We will try and make it a video though, and share it on our Facebook page. Follow our Digit, DigitGeek and SKOAR Facebook pages for more from us.
4. This is true, we try and find a balance, even though the balance is shifting to "gadgets" over PCs. We will do more PC-based reviews on a regular basis, that we promise.

I sincerely hope you are less angry with us now.

—Robert