

NOMINATE A YOUNG INDIA FELLOW

Know an amazing student? We want to know that student too!

The Young India Fellowship (YIF),
in collaboration with the University of Pennsylvania's
School of Engineering and Applied Science, is a one-year long fully funded programme that promises to take 50 of India's best and brightest and nurture them into agents of change and innovation for the future.

The YIF is open to final year undergraduate students or graduates with less than two years of work experience.

Students from all disciplines are eligible to apply – engineers, scientists, accountants and lawyers, as well as those who have graduated with degrees in the other liberal arts.

If you know someone who will benefit from a multi-disciplinary programme (with courses in literature, sociology, economics, technology, management, etc.) being taught and mentored by the best in India and abroad,
do nominate a Fellow through the form enclosed.
