

[FAST FORWARD]

What does the future hold for technology? We try and make some educated guesses, and also ask some of the smartest people on the planet for their opinions. Here's a quick list of what lies ahead in this issue

FEATURES

- A brave new world of unlimited power.....30
How will we generate power in the future?
- Entertainment Unlimited.....32
Keeping us entertained over the decades.
- Operating Systems of the future46
Windows 11? Ubuntu Zany Zebra? Android 8?
- Interfacing with the future48
Out damned keyboard and mouse, out!
- The future of gaming56
The latest console release in 2021 reviewed.
- The future of reading61
Foldable, rollable millions of colours paper displays?
- How will we be healed?55
We're still going to fall sick, but will we need hospitals?
- PCs of the future64
128 core CPUs anyone?
- Future of communication 24
Incoming calls free on the inter-galactic sub-space channel!
- Travel made simpler.....26
Getting from point A to B ought to be easier and more fun.
- Technology Roadmap 2010+66
An absolute gem of a technology roadmap, complete with trends and predictions. It looks complicated, but you'll end up spending hours discovering it.

COLUMNS

- Thorium - the safe way to energy security28
Edward Henning
- When diamonds are no longer precious34
Stephen Euin Cobb
- Confounded by complexity36
Peter Cochrane
- Intelligent decisions and the Brain38
Peter Dayan and Demis Hassabi
- Context, ubiquity and the cloud40
Chris Davies
- Potentials of technology42
Jacque Fresco
- Future trends in technology44
Eugene Kaspersky
- Everything as a service50
Prithviraj Banerjee
- Probabilistic databases..... 51
Dan Olteanu and Robert Fink
- The next 10 years in technology52
Jacky Baltes
- How Big Data will change our future53
William Cockayne and Tamara Carleton
- Ubiquitous computing through social objects... 54
John Kestner
- Science-fact or science-fiction?.....58
Syd Mead
- Big Bang matters59
Archana Sharma
- Emotions and technology60
Rosalind Picard
- Mr Watson, come here, I want you to see this! 62
Jason Ling