iPhone 4S Elite Gold

Here's something that will leave you feeling like a dog tag sporting rapper – a gold-studded iPhone 4S. There are 500 diamonds (100 karats in all) on the phone's bezel and 53 diamonds alone on the Apple logo. A set of crystal earphones is also thrown in. The price? A mere ₹48.7 crore.

MWE Emperor 200

If your office chairs suck on ergonomics, all you need to do is somehow steal the MWE Emperor 200. It's a custom built, scorpion-shaped throne (workstation is too lame a word to justify the Emperor 200's coolness and comfort) that's built to your requirements. It can be fitted with three monitors, touchscreen control panel and an electric-powered leather seat. The MWE Emperor 200 also houses an air filtration system. After ordering one for ₹23.6 lakhs, you'll have to wait for at least six months to park your tushy on it.

Harry Winston Opus 12

For the uninitiated the Harry Winston Opus 12 may be just a watch, but this 18-karat gold time teller is a serious work of art. For a gadget that costs approx. ₹1.36 crore, it has to be, right? The Opus 12 has blue metal arms shaped like daggers for traditional minute and hour hands, while a driving wheel that turns them from grey to blue indicates time.
