Leica R3 Safari edition

Embarking on a safari without a classy camera is like going to the Bellagio without your cigar. It's something that's just not done. This Leica, as with any other Leica built so far, is the ultimate statement in camera debauchery and the pseudo-military green shade with the "Safari" tag and an Armani Khaki suit are all you need to look like you're a native of the land.

Price: $2,500 (body only)

Planning an African Safari? Don't leave home without these

The Fury

If a game of Far Cry 3 inspired you to go on this safari, be warned that a recurve bow is not as much fun as you think it is. This is what you need. The Fury, manufactured with an extreme degree of precision and care, is the ideal tool for a hunting trip. Surreptitious and deadly, and with the right costume, you'll look like a true badass standing with your foot on the carcass of a deceased bullfrog.

Price: $600
