

A smaller Galaxy

A Samsung executive has confirmed that Samsung is developing a smartwatch which until recently was rumoured to be named as the Galaxy Altius

Apple lock screen issue fixed

Apple has finally released the iOS 6.1.3 update that fixes the lockscreen vulnerability which surfaced on its iOS devices

Samsung Galaxy Grand Duos

A premium, dual-SIM, Jelly Bean smartphone

The Galaxy Grand Duos stays true to the design tradition of the Galaxy family. From a distance it's easy to mistake the Grand Duos for the S III because the looks are so similar. The device is comfortable to hold in one hand but dual handed operation is what it's designed for. It may appear slightly wider than other 5-inch devices available in the market but that isn't the case.

The 5-inch display of the Galaxy Grand has a resolution of 480x800 pixels giving it a 162ppi. The display does suffer due to this, and also because it has a yellow tinge that is especially evident when watching videos.

The Grand Duos comes with the TouchWiz skin and anyone who has used a Samsung Android smartphone will feel right at home here. Samsung apps such as S Voice, Smart Stare (the display won't go to sleep if it knows that you are reading), All share, Chat On and more are also present on the device

It may be slightly hard to recommend the Galaxy Grand Duos for the price you pay. You have the Micromax Canvas HD A116 which has better specifications than the Galaxy Grand Duos, and at a lower price. On the other hand, with the Grand Duos, you not only get a slew of Samsung apps, such as multi window, smart stare and more, but also better after sales service, not to mention the TouchWiz UI. The Canvas HD has a better display than the Grand Duos. If you are on a budget, we say take a look at the Canvas HD before making your purchase decision. If a dual-SIM premium device is what you are looking for, then you can take a look at the HTC Desire SV.

Circle Armor

A good backlit gaming keyboard

₹3,999

This keyboard looks stylish from all angles and has a trendy, yet functional design. Seemingly good build quality will ensure its longevity. The keys are polished and smooth with a blue LED backlight which has three modes of operation. A volume control knob with multimedia keys lies at the top area. Circle has bundled a well-made customization software with this keyboard which was easy to use for setting up gaming profiles for the included macro keys. You can switch between four gaming profile modes for the ten G-keys. If you manage to get the Armor at its best buy price of ₹2,700 then it's a sweet deal.

Roccat Kone XTD

Style with substance!

₹4,750

Opening the box you will notice that the Kone XTD is designed for right handed people. The mouse is well-built and has a matte black, rubbery body. There are two translucent lines along the sides of the body which light up when connected. These lights provide a colour changing, glowing effect which can be customized via the configuration software. The included software is very user friendly and allows for a host of customisations and button mapping. This mouse was very accurate in games. If you can shell out the money for it, the Kone XTD is an excellent mouse to consider.
