

Windows XP System Compatibility Report screen

is incompatible with Windows XP.

5. Depending on what information you received after running the system compatibility check, you may need to download drivers and other related software. If you have to upgrade the BIOS, then you will need to download and flash your motherboard BIOS before you begin to install Windows XP.

6. Once this is done, defragment and run Scandisk on the hard drive and start the installation of Windows XP.