

Colour-Code Your Calendar

In your Outlook Calendar, you can use colours to help you manage your appointments. For example, you can choose colours with predefined labels such as “Personal”, “Needs Preparation,” or “Must Attend”; or, you can create your own labels. Here’s how.

To colour an appointment or meeting with a predefined label, click ‘Calendar’. Right-click an appointment or meeting, point to ‘Label’ on the shortcut menu, and then click a colour-coded label in the list. To remove the colour from the appointment or meeting, in the ‘Label’ list, click ‘None’.

To create your own coloured label, click ‘Calendar’. Right-click an appointment or meeting, point to ‘Label’ on the shortcut menu, and then click ‘Edit Labels’. Pick the colour you want to rename, type in your new label name, and click ‘OK’.

Find Related Messages In Outlook

Do you end up scanning Outlook folders to find messages previously sent or received as part of an extended e-mail conversation? Outlook can find and display these messages, if they are part of the same conversation string: select one of the messages in the e-mail conversation. On the ‘Actions’ menu, point to ‘Find All’, and click ‘Related Messages’.

You can also use a shortcut to find related messages. When you open an e-mail message you have already replied to, a yellow information bar indicates the date and time you replied to the message, and provides a link you can use to find all related messages. Click the information bar to view related messages. In Outlook 2002, the bar also indicates if the sender is currently online, and if that sender is an Instant Messenger contact.

Open, Dismiss, Or Snooze Multiple Reminders

Did you know that you could act on more than one reminder at a time in Outlook 2003? Your reminders are listed in the ‘Reminders’ window, which is accessible from the ‘View’ menu.
