

www.ndtv.com

We used to love watching "The World This Week". We still tune into NDTV for a quick news roundup.

www.ndtv.com is easily one of the most reliable Indian news sites. The site also carries a lot of features on travel and other such areas, giving a very rounded feel to the site. What really gets us onto the site is the breaking news flash that appears at the top and the ticker that streams across the top banner.

www.wired.com

Wired is a technology site, it's a pioneering technology magazine but it is always one of the most informative news websites on the web. We're not going around town singing paens about the wide coverage but rather the depth in each feature. Need to know more than just what happened when...get wired.
