

4.6 Conduct Business And Shop Online

Online shopping has turned many of us into shopaholics

E-commerce was touted as the next big economic miracle that would make instant millionaires. Anyone who had a half-baked idea jumped onto the e-commerce bandwagon. What it did was turn out a lot of wise young men and faulty business models. All those who burnt their fingers in the dot-com bust can now give a safe Internet practices lecture!

A few, however, have stuck it out and made those proverbial pots of gold. Business plans and revenue models have been tweaked and worked upon, and conducting business online is no longer as risky as it once was. All it requires is planning and a systematic approach.