7.6 Beginner's Guide To Corporate Blogging

Corporate Blog: A Definition

Blogs - an abbreviation of 'weblogs' - are published on the web, typically as microsites standing by themselves but today also as parts of traditional web sites. They reflect the interests, thoughts and opinions of the person, sometimes persons, publishing the blog. Blogs are characterized by frequent updates, an informal tone and many links to other blogs and web sites.

A corporate blog is a blog published by or with the support of an organization to reach that organization's goals. In external communications the potential benefits include strengthened relationships with important target groups and the positioning of the publishing organization (or individuals within it) as industry experts. Internally blogs are generally referred to as tools for collaboration and knowledge management.

The Nature of Blogs

To understand blogging as a corporate communications tool, we must understand the nature of blogs (See page 3 for a basic definition). You can find as many definitions and explanations as you like. In our opinion, these are the relevant distinctive features of blogs.
