

Eventually, some keys would break, and that involved a visit to computer repair shop. The conversation there would typically go:

“Keyboard’s broken.”

“Daly Thompson’s Super Test?”

“Yeah.”