

12.8 Workshop: Text Go Boom

Armed with a trusty lasso and a couple of blur tools, we can carry out a few demolition operations of our own! Watch and learn!

Start with a new image (the same old 640 x 480) and fill the background with black. You can do this with white as well, but black just looks cooler.

Create a new type layer—use a thick font and a red or orange-based colour. Right-click on the layer in the Layers Palette and rasterise it.
