

Resources

Looking at what people have done never hurts. It always helps to observe, learn and assimilate as much as one can about the subject when one is either just beginning, or is a seasoned pro. Here are some good starting points—Web sites designed well and not-so-well. Look, observe, learn!