

Hardware

Covered here are hacks related to peripheral devices. You might want to change the behaviour of your mouse or keyboard, or make printing more efficient. With a couple of exceptions, the Registry edits we mention here do have something to do with the Windows interface or with Windows itself, but each of them is related to a peripheral.